

Dana-Farber
Cancer Institute

Angelle M. Kettlewell

Director, Principal and Major Gifts
Division of Philanthropy

Biography

Angelle partners with physician-scientists to raise philanthropic support for the Gastrointestinal Cancer Center and the Center for Cancer Genetics and Prevention. She moved from Michigan to pursue a career selling IT research at Gartner, Inc. before joining Dana-Farber's Division of Philanthropy in 2015. Angelle has secured philanthropic gifts for Dana-Farber that accelerate innovation, foster collaboration, and have a tangible impact on cancer patient care. Angelle was a graduate of the Cappel Sales Track in the Stephen M. Ross School of Business and earned a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology at the University of Michigan. Angelle enjoys skiing, running, and spending time with family and friends.

Background

Education

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI
Bachelor of Arts in Sociology
Cappel Sales Track, Stephen M. Ross School of Business

Contact Information

Phone: 617-632-5027

Email: angellem_kettlewell@dfci.harvard.edu