

Dana-Farber
Cancer Institute

Patricia Rizzo

Oncology Nurse Navigator, Gastrointestinal Cancer Center

Biography

Patti received a diploma in Nursing from Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, School of Nursing, in 1980 and a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from Curry College in 2000. She worked as an oncology nurse at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute caring for inpatient oncology patients and transitioned to a role as a nutrition support nurse. Patti moved to Brigham and Women's Hospital, department of surgery, working as a nurse in the parenteral and enteral access service, Metabolic Support Division. She was certified as a Nutrition Support Nurse and worked with the outpatient nutrition support patients as well as coordinated the surgical parenteral and enteral access service. She returned to Dana-Farber in 2005 where she currently practices in the role of Oncology Nurse Navigator for the Gastrointestinal Cancer Treatment Center.

Background

Education

Curry College, Milton, MA

Bachelor of Science in Nursing, 2000

St. Elizabeth's Hospital School of Nursing, Boston, MA

Diploma in Nursing, 1980