

Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

Alison Hamel, MSN, NP

Nurse Practitioner, Gynecologic Oncology

Biography

Alison Hamel, MSN, NP, has been an oncology nurse practitioner in the Gynecologic Oncology Program at Dana-Farber since September 2018. Her clinical approach focuses on creating a partnership for health care decision-making between her patients, their families, and their health care providers. Her other interests include patient education and palliative care.

Before her position at Dana-Farber she worked as an inpatient Nurse Practitioner for women with gynecological malignancies. She previously worked as an inpatient staff nurse in GYN oncology focusing on surgical recovery and chemotherapy administration. Alison received her master's degree in nursing from the University of Massachusetts Boston.

Background

Education

University of Massachusetts Boston | Master of Science in Nursing