

FELLOW: Mary C. Boulanger, MD
HOMETOWN: Lexington, Kentucky
MEDICAL SCHOOL: University of Kentucky
RESIDENCY: Johns Hopkins

Mary Boulanger grew up in Lexington, Kentucky. She earned a B.S. in Human Nutrition and M.D. at the University of Kentucky. She then completed her internal medicine residency at Johns Hopkins.

During residency, she conducted clinical research in thoracic oncology focused on survivorship care and palliative care. She looks forward to a career in oncology dedicated to patient-centered care and clinical research.

Outside of medicine, she enjoys hiking, cooking, and spending time with family. She is excited to explore the harbor and new restaurants in Boston.